Welcome to

Emory University Hospital Midtown

Dan Owens, MBA, CEO

Who we are

Emory University Hospital Midtown (EUHM) is well known for services in cardiology, cardiac surgery, gastroenterology, neurosurgery, oncology, orthopaedics and emergency medicine. Women's services include prenatal and postnatal education, bone density testing, mammography and obstetrics, with specialization in high-risk pregnancy.

EUHM has 529 beds, including 86 ICU beds, a level III neonatal intensive care unit and four hyperbaric oxygen units.

Patients served in 2016

63,000

23,000

193,000

- Inpatients visits (8.24%)
- Outpatients visits (69.18%)
- ER visits (22.58%)

Timeline

1908
Founded as the Davis-Fischer Sanatorium

1931
Named Crawford Long Hospital after Dr. Crawford W. Long

2009
Named Emory University Hospital Midtown

2017
Recognized for excellence in stroke care by the American Heart Association

Congratulations!

In 2017, the Georgia Coverdall Acute Stroke Registry and the Georgia Department of Public Health named Emory University Hospital Midtown as the Georgia Champion Hospital of the Year.

emoryhealthcare.org/euhm/index.html

EMORY UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL MIDTOWN